Pandox Hotel Market Day 2019 explores pathways to a sustainable hotel sector

Pandox's annual hotel market day takes place today at Hilton Stockholm Slussen. The topic is "pathways to a sustainable hotel sector", where we, supported by experts in different areas, explore both the sustainability challenges and solutions for the hotel sector. Focus is on properties, food and travel.

"All companies have an important role to play in the transition to a more sustainable society. For Pandox, it is about reducing the environmental impact of properties and hotel operations as well as contributing to a positive development in society in general. With this year's hotel market day, Pandox not only wants to highlight important sustainability challenges for the hotel sector but also show examples of positive work that is already happening in many areas, not least in Pandox's own operations", says Pandox CEO Anders Nissen.

Pandox introduced the hotel market day already in 1996 with the aim to reflect upon and analyse important macro trends and to contribute to added know-how in the hotel industry. Since then, the hotel market day has developed into a dynamic meeting place for decision makers within the international hotel industry. This year's hotel market day is the 24th in order.

The interest in the Pandox Hotel Market Day is always great. This year the event once again gathers some 300 participants from 15 countries. The event is aimed at participants from the hotel industry, institutional investors, analysts and media.

Please visit www.pandox.se for a detailed agenda and more information about the speakers. Here, presentation material will also be published. A recorded version of Pandox's CEO Anders Nissen's introductory presentation will also be made available at the same location after the event. The presentations will start at 13:00 CET and end around 18:30 CET.
