PANDOX – EXCELLENCE IN HOTEL OWNERSHIP AND OPERATIONS

Six development levels... ...to get back to full performance

Phase 1 The past

COVID-19 virus arrived to Northern Europe in March
Societies closed down and travel restrictions were implemented
Occupancy 5–25 percent
Market bottom in late April/early May

Phase 2 Summer holidays

> Late May, restrictions were gradually eased and domestic travel allowed Domestic leisure demand returned quite immediately > In the Nordics occupancy rose rapidly from 20 to 60 percent during the summer period (R7 days) > Similar pattern in domestic markets across Europe > Drivers were to travel, to meet friends and to experience life outside lockdown > As expected, larger cities like London and Stockholm experienced weak demand (25–30%), due to high dependency on international travel and attractions

Phase 3 After summer holidays

- After the summer holidays the leisure segment decreased during weekdays but remained stable over weekends
- Domestic corporate returned gradually as small and medium sized companies began to travel. Low demand from larger companies due to result of travel restrictions
- Domestic markets in the UK, Germany and the Nordics established at 40–55 percent occupancy
- International markets saw a certain increase from low levels
- > Overall, a stronger market development than many expected
